TOKIO, June 13. (AP)—The Associated Press is informed from an authoritative source that Japan's delegation to the Geneva naval conference is instructed to propose an equal ratio, with a maximum limit, for auxiliary vessels.

The contention is that Japan is theoretically entitled to have even more cruisers and other auxiliaries than America, owing to her greater necessity of protecting trade routes.

It is also argued that an equal ratio with Great Britain and the United States will constitute no menace whatever, because it is virtually impossible for auxiliary vessels to operate effectively across the wide expanse of the Pacific.

The Japanese delegation is understood, will declare that Japan does not intend to build the number of ships which she proposed is "desirable" to build equally with the other powers.

NOT IN RUSSIAN EYES.

Japan is strong enough to manage its own affairs, the delegates said. "Russia is the aggressor of this week," they declared, "and we are making the Russians to make the changes of Polish boundaries and in favor of the moon."

CHAMBERLIN AND LEVINE

by Train and After Brief
Welcome Pass Unnoticed

RADEN-SADEN (Germany) June 13. (AP)—The New York-to-Berlin flyer, Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles Levine, bent on a rest after a week of official greetings and entertainments in the German capital, reached here this morning. They came by train, the Bellanca plane motor having disabled motor which is undergoing an overhaul at Tempelhof Field.

On their way to Baden-Baden, the aviators were serenaded at Frankfurt airport on reaching home where they were met by the Bürgermeister, and other officials and welcomed by a crowd of two or three thousand, gathered at the railway station. They spent the first quiet day since they arrived in Europe in leisure around Germany's celebrated spa, where, except for the brief ceremony of greeting, they were almost unnoticed.

Flight to Baden-Baden, the guests of the Mayor in the historic Kurhaus, and Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador at Washington, facilitated them heartily. The Kurhaus band struck up the strain for the audience of "Odeonthe, the Queen of the Ocean," then struck up the "Blue Danube" considered the next best substitute.

Chamberlin and Levine still hope to carry off the Europe flying prize, but hold them somewhat in abeyance, pending arrival of their wives. No answer has yet been received from Commander Sykes as to whether he would accompany him on a return trip to the United States, should he succeed in his trans-Atlantic flight to Europe.

Two Flyers Die

Langley Field

NEW YORK NEWS (Va.) June 13. (AP)—First Lieutenant F. B. McConnell and Second Lieutenant G. Anderson were killed at Langley Field today while engaged in air maneuvers.

Their machine crashed near the ground when it hit the ground, both drivers being burned almost beyond recognition.

The tracks were in the paths of a flood of water that was turned loose suddenly Saturday night when Grass Lake, a small reservoir in the mountains, gave way following a heavy rain storm.

The thermometers there registered 80 degrees.

Rainfall was general over Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, upward of two inches being recorded at some points in Kansas.

After Relapse

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13. (AP)—John Drew, stage actor, was pronounced "quite improved" today following a relapse last night, which, it was feared, would mean his death.

He is not yet out of danger, according to his physician, Dr. Lawrence Hoffman, who declared "there is still a way to tell just what turn his condition may take."

Drew, it was said, is fully cognizant of the seriousness of his condition, which is a combination of tuberculosis and pneumonia, but treats it lightly, refusing to show visible evidence that he is downcast.

Epochal Flight

BARCELONA (Spain) June 13. (AP)—Commander Francesco De Pinedo, Italian long-distance aviator, today drew nearer to the termination of his great four-continent flight, which carried him from Italy to Africa, South America, the United States, Newfoundland and the Azores.

The Italian flyer after speeding around the Spanish coast from Lisbon, arrived at the Azores earlier at 4 p.m. tonight amid an enthusiastic welcome by the populace.

As the official guest of Spain he will fly to Madrid tomorrow in a Spanish plane, escorted by a squadron of planes and especially here for the purpose. He will return to Barcelona Wednesday and leave Thursday morning direct for Rome.

The commander was caught by an Associated Press representative as he was stepping into a parade car after leaving the City Hall with the Lindbergh party.

Nothing in the history of the world," he said, "compares with this reception."

Concerning reports that his plane was ready to take off at a moment's notice, he confirmed this, explaining that he would not go until New York had completed its homeward journey.

"You know why," he said. He had previously said that he would not attempt any aerial undertaking while Lindbergh was in the full flush of public acclaim.

It is understood that Maj. Cotton will remain in the United States in the vicinity of Swift Current in the western part of the Placentia district, where one resident reported that on the morning of May 9 he heard an airplane in flight and another plane he heard an explosion, followed by a crash.

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—President Coolidge left tonight to spend the summer in the South Dakotan Black Hills.

They are scheduled to reach the State game lodge, which has been placed at their disposal, Wednesday night. They will detrain at Rapid City and cover the last thirty-two miles of their 1,900-mile journey by motor.

Accompanied by an unusually large party, which included an office staff, servants, secret service men, newspaper reporters and photographers, the President and Mrs. Coolidge departed at 9:05 o'clock from Washington on an eight-car special train. It is scheduled to make only one stop en route, that at Mitchell, Ind., where the President will deliver an address tomorrow afternoon.

GLAD TO GO

Prospect of escape from the heat which usually is severe here in the summer but which has been slow in coming on this year, plainly pleased Mr. Coolidge as he turned his eyes westward. He will stay at the temporary White House at the farthest point from here ever selected by a President for a summer residence over an extended period of time.

The New York-Paris aviator, in an address at the National Aeronautic Association breakfast given in his honor, expressed the hope that the methods of navigation he used on his flight would be adopted for the Pacific trip.

He pointed out that at his landing place far off his course on Attapu, he had to land in the British Isles before the afternoon put him in position to leave town for the summer. There were a few callers to say good-bye and some routine business attending.

DELIVERS ADDRESS

In the afternoon Mr. Coolidge spoke briefly at an open-air meeting in international congress of soil science. He will deliver another address tomorrow at Hammond, Ind., to the World War veterans.

FORTINER—General New, a former Senator from Indiana, was the only guest invited by the President to accompany him from Washington.

He is interested in the Hammonia excursion tomorrow and expects to leave the President's train at that city. The White House staff which will go on the first break of good weather "after the Lindbergh reception" is over in New York" he would set out for Paris in his trimotor plane, the America.

Houdini's Death

to Boy's Blow

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Payment of $50,000 to Mrs. Beatrice Houdini, widow of Harry Houdini, magician, by the New York Life Insurance Company as indemnity for accidental death, today disclosed the company's acceptance of the claim that he died as the result of a blow.

Houdini's death on October 30, 1926, according to George Conrey, an agent of the company, followed the day after he had challenged a McGill University student in Montreal to strike him a hard blow. He did this to prove his excellent physical condition, Conrey explained, adding that the blow was given in the region of the appendix and caused a rupture.

BEVERLY HILLS, June 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Democrats should never complain again. I thought they were worse off than anybody, but they are not. Look what happens in Russia to the party that criticizes their government. Over here they are condemned but not to death.

LINDBERGH SAYS NEW YORK WELCOME WAS GREATEST

Governor and Mayor Each Give Medal to Flyer-Hero; Dazed at Greeting

Broadway behind the soldiers, sailors and marines brought forth a deep-throated roar from the multitude.

The crowd liked him. It wanted him to know it.

"Lindy, Lindy," roared the throng. It was the prevailing cry, sometimes in a deep bass, and more often in the shrill, high-pitched voice of an eager woman. All along the route, 2000 police stood, arms linked, holding back the crowd, but it was a happy, well-behaved crowd and gave little trouble, except for sporadic shouting.

Riding at this time in an open car with Grover Whalen, chairman of the reception committee, Lindbergh was compelled to stand and wave from time to time. At the moment of the welcome was a short, almost shocked, wave of the hand. He soon tired and resumed his seat, but he still has an occasional smile for the multitude.

To lookouts it was apparent he had nothing of the showman's spirit. He seemed only the boy that he is. A bit tired, a little frightened and plainly bewildered at the tumultuous reception, Lindbergh was getting his second wind of New York's welcome.

The paper snowstorm grew thicker, until it almost blinded the drivers of the automobiles in the parade. The crowd was bawled twenty deep as their hero neared City Hall Square.

The broad plaza in front of the historic building was a surging sea of color. Two stands, smothered in bunting, were the vivid spots where the sparkling sunshine brought out the medley hues of frocks of the feminine occupants.

HUMMITS HELPLESSLY

The same shy, tousle-haired boy who slipped away in the fog for three weeks ago, had officially returned to submit himself to a hero's welcome. No other boy has been known. He was following in the footsteps of kings, queens, princes and cardinals, diplomats and heroes of the war, but none received such great ovation.

"Lindy," roared 100,000 voices. His cheeks flushed, and the flying colonel, clad plainly as becomes one of his modesty, in a single blue suit, stepped from the side of Grover Whalen to receive from him the official welcome of the city in a pause between the greeting down the bay and lower Broadway and the tremendous ovation that lay ahead of him through the streets to the Mall in Central Park.

Dazed by the welcome, the youthful colonel was plainly stunned. But when he stepped to the microphone at the close of the greeting after Mayor Walker had told him "All the world's heroes were as thrills to the story of your courage," the stout youth showed calm.

Major Walker welcomed Col. Lindbergh as the son of one immigrant to the son of another. He extended to the returning hero two hands to be given the city of New York to him, but that he had won it by his flight across the Atlantic. The Mayor said in part:

"Everybody all over the world, in every language, has been telling you about yourself. You have been told time after time every detail of your life, and that you have done the supernatural thing of an air flight from New York to Paris. It is not good to reiterate any of the wonderful things that have been said and written about you. But the one thing that occurs to me that has been overlooked is that you have added grandeur and a deeper meaning to the word 'hero.'

FLYING PRONOUN

"Not only you landed in Paris did we learn of the astronomical 'we.' Now you have given to the world a flying pronoun."

Major Walker asserted the "we" was a " vindication of the courage, the intelligence, of the combination, and the hope of all flyers, including Number One, Col. Lindbergh, who only live in the prayer and the hearts of the people of the world."

After telling Col. Lindbergh of the pride and love in which the city held him, Major Walker concluded with the presentation of the medal and scroll.

Col. Lindbergh then faced the microphone. But first he almost pushed it off the platform. Some one standing behind reached out and rescued it. In a clear, ringing voice, the young hero gave it another shove.

At Madison Square, where thousands had waited hours to see the flying colonel, the cavalcade halted seven minutes. Just then, for the first time, the orderly crowd seemed to be changing into an uncontrollable mass. Then, as the sound of the crowd swelled, there was a huge shout windily dazed in under the pressure of the multitude. From time to time the ambulance, station wagon, every few blocks, and in the parade, tried to pick up some injured person or a woman who had fainted.

New York dressed up with unprecedented gayety and brilliance to welcome the aviator who had brought back the age of romance. The line of march Fifth Avenue, and every side street, was one vast gallery of semi-darkness.

Sections of the 2000 police had been rushed ahead by special way teams and again stood with bared arms all along the line of march to hold back the crowd which had grown even more dense than that which lined lower Broadway. Augmented by thousands of soldiers the street crowd was kept in check. Most conspicuously was the sound of tinkling glasses held in mass huge show windows dazed in under the pressure of the multitude. From time to time the ambulance, station wagon, every few blocks, and in the parade, tried to pick up some injured person or a woman who had fainted.

New York dressed up with unprecedented gayety and brilliance to welcome the aviator who had brought back the age of romance. The line of march Fifth Avenue, and every side street, was one vast gallery of semi-darkness.

At Madison Square, where thousands had waited hours to see the flying colonel, the cavalcade halted seven minutes. Just then, for the first time, the orderly crowd seemed to be changing into an uncontrollable mass. Then, as the sound of the crowd swelled, there was a huge shout windily dazed in under the pressure of the multitude. From time to time the ambulance, station wagon, every few blocks, and in the parade, tried to pick up some injured person or a woman who had fainted.

PAPER FAINT

Sections of the 2000 police had been rushed ahead by special way teams and again stood with bared arms all along the line of march to hold back the crowd which had grown even more dense than that which lined lower Broadway. Augmented by thousands of soldiers the street crowd was kept in check. STATE GAINS IN REVENUE

Assessments to Exceed Plans

Taxes to be Paid by Corporations, Utilities and Banks
Above Estimates

More Than Million Extra
Will Flow Into Treasury
at Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, June 13. (P)—An assessment of $45,556,766 against public utilities, corporations, banks and insurance companies to aid in meeting California's revenue needs during the fiscal year beginning July 1, which exceeds by $1,351,766 the amount the Legislature directed be raised for general State needs, was announced today by the State Board of Equalization. The total assessment also exceeds by $2,497,722 that made by the board on the same sources of income during the present fiscal year which will end on the 30th inst.

The announcement was made following completion of the assessment roll and was accompanied by the prediction that no ad valorem tax will be necessary for State purposes.

The tax is payable in two equal installments, the first becoming due the second Monday of next month and becoming delinquent the second Monday in August. The last payment is due following that date. It will become delinquent after the first Monday in February, 1928.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

With the exception of the State banks and gas and electric companies the assessments were higher than those than that estimated by the State Board of Equalization for consideration in the budget preparation.

A comparison of the income from these sources during the fiscal year, compared with that of last year, from the same sources follows:

	1926.	1927.
Electric and street railroads	$ 2,062,588	$ 2,062,588
State banks	11,792,669	12,261,704
Gas and electric companies	16,216,189	17,219,894
Telephone and telegraph	1,225,489	1,225,489
Gasoline companies	8,206,682	8,275,959
Automobile companies	945,262	945,262
Insurance companies	4,797,396	4,874,295
National banks	1,261,912	1,232,261
State banks	4,676,482	4,735,218
Total	$45,556,766	$45,556,766

(Costs omitted.)

The discrepancy between the estimate and the ultimate bank assessments is explained by the amalgamation of the Bank of Italy and its amalgamation of many other banking institutions.

CHANGES IN BANKS

Prior to this year, many banks changed from State to national organizations upon amalgamation or through the formation of state bank and trust companies. This year, however, with the change in the status of the Bank of Italy, the board overruled the practice of changing the name of the bank and undenominated the national bank charges by $400,000.10.

The difference between gas and electric company estimates and the State Board of Equalization's due to the fact that the increase in the business of these concerns during 1926, on the basis of which the 1927 bill was based, was much smaller than the 1926 bill indicated.

The board also voted to keep the projected figure of $11,216,000.16 in revenue through adverse State and United States Supreme Court decisions affecting corporate taxes, and in taxable franchises, which were 1.5 per cent, against 1.6 per cent last year.

Without this change in rate the board points out that this form of taxation would have netted $4,184,564, or $78,300 more than the original measure to be heard for budget purposes. Under the new rate the tax will be $4,725,218.

RAIL TAX INCREASE

Although passage of Proposition No. 7 on the November ballot, which cut the tax on steam railroads requires San Quentin to the Napa State Hospital in 1922, escaped from the 7 to 51 per cent clipping $165,164 from this source of income, the total railroad assessment of $12,406,407.88 marks an increase of $60,400 over the 1926 tax of $12,007,088 for 1926. It was estimated by the board at the time the proposition was being submitted to the voters that the change would not materially affect the railroad assessment.

Reports submitted for the assessments, the board reports, indicate the conditions in industry in California are continuing to show gratifying improvement over the past year. Some manufacturers said they have found an increasing stability in industry generally, and a much larger volume of insurance business than ever before has been written by the State assessors.

The board comprises R. E. Collins, Redding, chairman; John C. Corbett, San Francisco; H. G. Cattell, Pasadena; Fred E. Stewart, Oakland, and State Controller Riley.

Ontario School Principal Gets Record Salary

SACRAMENTO, June 13. (P)—Employed at an annual salary of $7000 last year, the principal of the Ontario High School was the highest paid executive in this branch of California's secondary school system reported gathered by the State Educational Department show. The average salary for high-school principals in the State last year was $5607.30 for men and $3208.15 for women.

Sausalito, with a high-school principal receiving $6000, had the second highest—also a school director, Mrs. Frances Weston and Whittier tied for third place, with principals receiving $5000 each. Ten other principals receiving $5000 or more are: Redwood City, $5300; Los Altos, $5000; and Berkeley College, Huntington Park and Woodley, $5000.

WHISKY-MAKING PLAN DEFERRED

WASHINGTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—Permit of permits for a resumption of medicinal whisky distilling has been indefinitely postponed, it was announced yesterday at the Treasury Department.

While neither Secretary of the Treasury Mellon nor officials of the Prohibition Bureau would discuss the resumption of the policy, it was admitted in the latest news that the continuation of medicinal liquor has fallen off considerably in the last year and as a result existing stocks are now expected to be depleted much longer than had been anticipated.

An announcement a few weeks ago by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews of the completion of plans under which several groups of distillers would be authorized to resume distillation to replenish existing stocks of medicinal liquor was followed almost immediately by a vigorous protest from the Anti-Saloon League.

Prohibition Bureau officials refused to admit that the Anti-Saloon League's protest was responsible for the change in the Andrews plan, which had already been submitted to Congress.

PITTSBURGH, June 13. (AP)—It will be "Bobby" Jones on the field, in the battle of golfing giants that starts tomorrow over the velvet turf and hazards of the Oakmont Club.

Some do nothing but handkerchiefs... iron collar edges... here you'll see a of girls painstakingly hosiery... in other section are blankets. And so it is out this great insinuating skillful specialist, taking laundry clothes, just as you prefer them laundry... beyond companion and care!

In today Atlanta amateur, pres. champion of Great Britain, is not the United States from a formidable international field, approaching in defense of his laurels, but he was, nevertheless, a top-heavy favorite among players and experts alike today after the last practice shot had been exploded from O'akmont's tricky arrangement of traps and bunkers.

In all cases that "anything is better" is not a fact as a two-hole champion is not through the next few days he has come up with at least a half dozen more who will be in the race.

Atlanta amateur, Atlanta, Ga., and a member of the Atlanta Country Club, has won the Atlanta Open and the Atlanta Amateur.

Grimm Leads Attack With Triple and Single to Drive in Trio of Runs; Blake Tames Giants

CHICAGO, June 13. (Exclusive)—John J. McGraw's spiritless Giants today again fell victim to Joe McCarthy's rampaging Cubs. The score was 6 to 2, and it was the ninth straight victory for the Cubs.

The feeble resistance of the rapidly slipping Giants broke the sequence of one-run victories registered by the amazed seven straight by one tally and because the Giants could not score five times today they simply were forced to win by sheer runs.

Cubs. They had

The triumph did not help the Cubs to get closer to the Pirates.

McCarthy's gang suddenly managed to beat Brooklyn.

The game was run in the first round, and then the Cubs made three hits with the aid of a pop fly that went for a hit.

James Rogers Hornsby and Bill Terry got mixed up and forgot to catch it.

Sheriff Fred Blake came back to the game after a layoff with a split finger and while the Giants reached him for other hits, they could not get them when they counted. The Giants made three hits in one inning and failed to count. Some of the hits were decided.

Some of the errors were decided.

Fred Fitzsimmons started pitching for the Giants. He had a bad first inning, in which the Cubs raked him for six, but in the next four innings did not let a Chicago athlete reach first base.

Roger Bresnahan, sitting in as

Giants' manager while John J. McGraw was away, around the corner trying to stretch his line up, took Fitzsimmons out for a pinch hitter in the sixth with the bases loaded and two out and the pinch hitter lined out to center.

Drop Three Matches to Two in Cup Competition

Rene La Coste Captures Big Tilt from De Stefani

Cochet Drops Contest After Hard-Fought Battle

ROME, June 13. (P)—France today eliminated Italy from the Davis Cup competition three matches to two. Rene La Coste, the French ace, capturing the last and deciding match from Giorgio De Stefani, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

La Coste's victory, just after Henri Cochet had fallen before the racket of the Italian star, Baron De Morsyrgo, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, was enough to send the French Davis Cup team to meet the Italian team after nearly having fallen victim to a combination of the baneful effect of torrid heat in Rome and an unexpected accident to a policeman by Baron De Morsyrgo.

With Cochet, who seemed ill and obviously suffering from the heat, playing far off form, La Coste, who himself had virtually taken his bow, was unable to annihilate himself, was forced to accommodate himself with everything depending on him.

Even against such an inexperienced and youthful opponent as De Stefani, the Frenchman dropped one set before he was able to sweep to victory.

Had the French team been eliminated by Italy, it would have been one of the most striking upsets of the season, since the French players are favored to much championship against the United States.

Marty Krug will present a brand-new Angel infield when his couches with Nick Williams's Seal in the seven-game series opener at Wrigley Field this afternoon. John Mitchell will be given a rest and Ray Jacobs will take his place at the short stop. The other changes on the Angel inner works will find Gales Staley back at second and Ed Hemingway on first. Paul Brandt retaining his job at third base.

Krug believes that this combination will help considerably in the Angels' attempt to climb up into second division because it should provide a more solid pit as well as provide a better hit, more hitting strength. Mitchell's batting average at present is down near the .300 mark, while Staley has a .356 average, and .356 when he injured his ankle up at Portland nearly three weeks ago.

BEST SHOULD HELP

A rest ought to do Mitchell a lot of good for Johnny has been playing terribly ball recently. Mitchell was voted the best shortstop last season, but this year he has fallen in his hitting, which was never too good, and his fielding became erratic. During the last few weeks Johnny has had some trouble getting the ball over to first but Eddie Neves thinks that a layoff will get Mitchell back in his last year's form.

Krug planned on making the switch last week, but his plans were switched around. Staley is now expected to come around in time. Staley is one of the best second-sackers in the circuit for producing double plays, which was something that Eddie Neves has had a hard, tough time turning in. The Angel pitchers can use quite a few double killings.

It is quite probable that Marv will present a shifted-outfield order in today's game. "Wally" Jensen, the young outfielder from the Northwest, belongs in the lead-off spot because he is the lead-off man of the Angels. We don't know whether Krug will agree with us or not, but here's how we'd like to see the Angels come to the bat: Jensen, center-field; Neves, right; Nease, right field; John, left field; Billie, third base; Staley, second base; Jacobs, short stop, and the battery.

The Seals, by the looks of their line-up, evidently have been hit by injuries lately. Our "Pinstripe" boy hung around Wrigley Field and failed to get Bill Lane to sign him, caught on with the Seals and is now playing third base and batting cleanup. "Ping" can still score the triple, but we can't vouch for his ability as a third-sacker. When Eddie Mulligan went on the shelf recently, though, "Ping" stepped in third and is still there. The Seals

ENGLAND'S FASHIONABLE RACE WEEK BEGINS TODAY

ASCOT (Eng.) June 13. (AP)—England's fashionable race week, which begins with the Gold Cup, the Gold Stake and the Gold Vase as the principal features with its attendant pageant of feminine fashions, promises to attract the biggest international crowd since the war, provided the weather holds good.

King George, Queen Mary and other members of the royal family and their guests at Windsor Castle, including the Duchess of Hesseberg, formerly May Goetz, will drive along the course in seven state coaches to the royal enclosure.

ENGLAND'S FASHIONABLE RACE WEEK BEGINS TODAY

The King has two horses running. Viscount Astor and A. Macomber are among the other owners, while there also are several French-bred horses competing.

The culminating event of the week's racing, from the society viewpoint, is the Gold Cup, to be run Saturday, when the field will turn out in full force. According to fashionable modistes, feminine styles will be shorter than ever. Wide-brimmed, be-flowered hats will again be favored, and ostrich plumes, worn in ruffles or cords, will strike a new note.

Well Begun—but far from done!

MEN AND WOMEN WHO HAVE prepared a Will—who have purchased Life Insurance in amounts ample to meet current obligations and perhaps provide a legacy for dependents—have well begun on the most important act of a lifetime. But the task is far from done.

For in itself a Will is but a guide book for the executor and administrator who must carry out its provisions. Selection of the person or corporate body to enact your desires is most important.

And again, the mere purchase of Life Insurance in itself is not an end but the means to an end. Thrusting a large sum of cash into hands, often untrained in judicious investment, usually reacts disastrously.

How to obtain careful, competent direction and management? That is the question which disturbs anyone who will leave property of any nature. Obviously an individual, subject to human failings and ills, is but a poor substitute. The logical source of ability to carry on your affairs is an enduring institution.

This Trust Company is the sort of manager and adviser you would like to charge with your affairs. We feel confident you will agree when you have given opportunity to learn our methods and the men who direct them. Your call at our offices, or a request for definite information by mail, will suffice.

FLOOD REFUGEE CAMPS REVEAL HUMAN FAILING

Few Deliberate Frauds Found in Red Cross Relief as System Succeeds First Rush

(This is the seventh of a series of articles by Harris Dickson, famous southern writer, portraying the horror and suffering caused by the Mississippi River flood.)

BY HARRIS DICKSON

(CINCINNATI, June 12. (Exclusive)—Our famous wit "Private" John Allen used to tell about his constituent who was killed in a railroad wreck. A sympathetic friend wired the widow, "Henry dead. One arm, two legs and one neck broke." Almost immediately he sent a second reassuring telegram, "Later and more favorable."

Only one of Henry's legs was broken. The Red Cross can not refer their cases to an investigating committee. Help is given them, right now. Investigation may come afterward. Frauds do show up, and get kicked out firmly and indignantly enough. For instance, if a Red Cross arrives, doesn't consult the Red Cross. Puts up at a good hotel and sends up a bill. The bill remains unpaid.

French farmers who cultivate the submerged country west of Baton Rouge that their condition is slightly more favorable than that of Mississippi companions in misery.

We Mississippians were forced to do things in a rush, and managed to muddle through. Our single crevasses almost caught us napping. But we showed the world of Red Cross actions had time to prepare. For when the first Arkansas levee collapsed, hundreds of miles above them, when additional crevasses occurred along the Mississippi, they had time to prepare.

"Yes. But if the Red Cross furnishes transportation I might as well get mine." He didn't get it.

BOUND TO SLOW OVER

Their splendid embankments were strong; yes; their people brave and unyielding; but the greatest human courage cannot pour twenty gallons of water into a gallon bucket.

It's bound to stop over.

For weeks in advance experienced river men knew that thousands of farmers, who thought they could not be inundated, had to be driven from their homes. The exact number of refugees could almost be counted long before flood waters began beating against their picturesque little houses, with green painted doors, along the Atchafalaya.

And when that tragedy occurred, when a deluge not only beat against their doors but surged over their roof tops, the favorable situation in Baton Rouge may already be utilized.

On the northern edge of that beautiful city stands a group of buildings more than a century old, which surround a green and grassy lawn. There is a long barracks established by His Majesty, the King of Spain, to shelter Spanish men-at-arms, and can accommodate in excess of 800 refugees.

VERY FORTUNATE

As a second favorable circumstance, the Dear and Dumb Institute, was then undergoing repairs. The enormous institution stood empty, equipped with every appliance of civilization to care for unfortunate.

Of course, at these two camps the conditions are peculiarly fortunate. Yet the same statement is practically true in every camp.

During the first two wild days in Vicksburg, for example, matters did not run so smoothly. Thousands of rats, white and black, chased by their cannibals, utterly helpless, were dumped in masses upon our citizens. With the biggest possible heart and the best possible intention, some discomfort could not be avoided. Sun also made it hard to return to camp, having heard of none, in which any man will fail to find comfortable shelter and food far better prepared than that served on the average American table.

Of course there has been waste in Red Cross administration—all honor to the Red Cross. Rations, clothing and other assistance have gone to unnecessary persons, and to anything that happens, the service which the American people demand of the American Red Cross would become absolutely paralyzed. I know, because I have seen it, been part of it.

FEW FRAUDS FOUND

When wretched thousands straggle in, naked, hungry, water-soaked, they are met at a negro camp, all comers were fed without investigating a single fact, except their appetites. And they took the negro's word for that.

For the third meal and thereafter the Red Cross issued a card bearing dates from one to thirty-one printed around the edge and being punched as each colored person came into the mess hall. The next meal showed 233 fewer dinners consumed, although dozens of refugees had meanwhile been added to camp. A miracle of loaves and fishes most naturally accounted for.

RATIONS WILD

Before that terrible punch system was installed each colored person passed into mess hall by the front door, ate all he could tote out, then waddled through the back door. Did he go to his tent and sleep it off? Not with rations running wild. He turned around at the front and devoured a second dinner. Perhaps a third. Not much else to do in that camp, and a colored person had to keep busy.

Over Louisiana some people have apparently remained at home, and are rationed according to the numbers in their family. The Red Cross maintains a theory that a family will average five, while theory fails to cross face. No race suicide here, and they claim a startling dock of children to be fed.

"All right," says the Red Cross man, "in a few days we'll have time to check up. And the head of any family has been drawing rations for

WIVES MARRIED

MANY TIMES

Eleven Ventures in Matrimony Chalked up by Spouses of Sacramentoans

STOCKTON, June 13. (Exclusive)—His first wife was married once; his second wife also was married; his third wife was married thrice; his fourth wife is to be married for the fourth time, today.

This was the story told Deputy County Clerk R. E. Graham today by Harry Melvin Morton, 61 years of age, Sacramento, when he applied for a marriage license in company with his bride-to-be, Virginia Hutton, 56, also of Sacramento.

Moreover, said Morton, he married his first wife on the 13th of the month; the same date as that for his marriage to his fourth wife.

more children than he actually has well cut him off entirely."

FIGURES REVISED

At once the heads of families began counting on their fingers, began revising their census statistics, revised again and again.

Let no Pharisee condemn, let him others seek to comprehend. These are honest people, simple, hospitable folk. But they cherish the well-night and the well-morning, the well-feeding whatever may be handed out free.

As against the Red Cross plan of concentration no white farmer is willing to leave home. Surviving stock will need his care. He may have a wife and chickens, more than all, his dog.

Suddenly a boat dashes along the bayou, stranger at the helm, and a strange voice shouts at him:

"Here! Quick! Come out! Water's come to feet higher! Over the roof of your house."

REFUSES TO LEAVE

What can that stranger know about high water? Never in his father's life, never in his own, has any overflow mounted above the second step of his porch.

No. He will not leave his home, his wife, his dog to go start a new life, never in his father's life, has any overflow mounted above the second step of his porch.

He refuses to leave his home, his wife, his dog to go start a new life, never in his father's life, has any overflow mounted above the second step of his porch.

They are making the best of weather, doing everything possible to help themselves. And a saving grace of humor shines cheerfully through it all.

WORLD AFFAIRS TOLD STUDENTS

Pomona Graduates Addressed by Dr. G. G. Wilson

Subject of Speech "Never International Relations"

Pacific Area Influences on Period Described

CLAREMONT, June 13.—A graduating class of 186 students and an audience that nearly filled the Pomona College open-air theater heard the address given by Dr. George Grafton Wilson of Harvard University at the thirty-fourth commencement exercises of Pomona College held this evening.

Dr. Wilson, who will leave Southern California this week for Honolulu to participate in the Pan-Pacific conference to be held there, declared in the course of his address on "Never International Relations" that all the changes in world relations in modern times none is more significant than the entrance of the area of the Pacific as a factor in determining the world's political balance. One of the Pacific countries into the world drama, as changing the bases of world relations, is the great phenomenon of this period. International relations, Dr. Wilson said, were world of world relations shows that old conceptions have yielded to new forces. European standards are no longer accepted without question. Even the term British Empire has since 1920 a new connotation.

EAST AND WEST MEET

In closing his address Dr. Wilson said, "On the borders of the Pacific Ocean the centers of the East and the West meet, and whether there is to be a clash or a blending of the best elements of the world which is, or the well-being of that world, remains as an unsolved problem. The West has for many years regarded the East as a field of exploitation. The East is nearly as an end, and the dealing must be as equals with equals."

Following Dr. Wilson's address the degree was conferred in person by President James C. Venable.

The conferring of two honorary degrees featured the commencement. One was awarded to a graduate of Pomona College and another to a lifetime friend of the college, Dr. Frank D. Wilson, president emeritus and member of Scripps College board of trustees. The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred upon Dr. Leslie Fuller who is known throughout the country as professor of the history and literature of religion at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and as professor of Old Testament literature at Garrett Biblical Seminary, Evanston. He graduated from Pomona College in 1907 and is back on the campus to celebrate his twentieth class reunion.

The seven who were so honored are Laura Dorothy Bevis, Arcadia; Charles Leo Hitchcock, Fullerton; John McDonald Jr., Redlands; Laura Lorraine, Glendale; Frank Edward Soudard, Claremont; John Frederick Thompson, Pomona; Clifton Charles Winn, Redlands.

VETERAN IOWA LAWYER DIES AT PASADENA HOME

PASADENA, June 13.—Nathan Wilson Macy, for thirty years a prominent figure of the bench and bar of Iowa, having served the Council Bluffs judicial district with distinguished honor for twenty consecutive years, died this morning at his home, 1000 North Euclid avenue, after a protracted illness. Judge Macy was in his eightieth year, had been born near Knightstown, Henry county, Indiana, March 25, 1846.

Because his successful professional career had been interrupted by eye trouble which ended in blindness, he came to California in October, 1910, and since has lived here in modest retirement. Of three brothers and three sisters, only two sisters, Mrs. John H. Edwards, Hollyhock, and Mrs. Willis P. Butler of Northwood, Iowa, survive him.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Turner & Stevens.

STEVEDORE AMUCK JAILED AT REDONDO

REDONDO BEACH, June 13.—A longshoreman giving the name of John Schmidt is in the Redondo City Jail on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder. The accusation arose from the stevedore running amuck yesterday near El Nido.

Of three brothers and three sisters, only two sisters, Mrs. John H. Edwards, Hollyhock, and Mrs. Willis P. Butler of Northwood, Iowa, survive him.

GOOD SAMARITAN LOSES AUTOMOBILE

GLENDALE, June 13.—J. T. Gately, 345 Hawthorne street, has quit playing the role of good Samaritan, following his experience of last night, when he gave a lift to a youth whom he encountered on the streets of Los Angeles. The young man told Gately that he had not sufficient money to get him far to Glendale, and Gately permitted him to ride in his coupe. On the way to Glendale, the passenger told his host that he had not eaten for more than twenty-four hours, so Gately stopped for a lunch, and then got out to buy two sandwiches. When bread was only 5¢

TODAY you can light your home, cook, clean, wash, or iron by electricity for what it would have cost you in the days when bread was only five cents a loaf.

While the prices of most everything else you use are still above pre-war levels, electricity remains at about what it was in 1914. Electricity is the only item in the household budget that costs less today than it did before the war.

Urban Security Sale Believed to be Record for State

Deal Consummated by Local Financing Institution

Further widening of the market for California mortgage securities was announced yesterday by James Long Wright, head of the National Mortgage-Security Housing-Mortgage Insurance group, upon his return from the East. Through the banking house of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., of Chicago and New York, he has arranged for the underwriting of $10,000,000 of securities, believed to be the largest sale of California mortgage obligations on record and the largest single underwriting of California mortgage bonds ever made.

The underwriting contract, which was negotiated by Mr. Wright and Clifford A. Hobie, general counsel of the National Mortgage and affiliated interests, covers $5,000,000 National Mortgage Company of California 6 per cent first mortgage trust bonds, and $5,000,000 Mortgage Insurance Corporation 6 per cent assumed first mortgage bonds, which will be delivered to the underwriters at the rate of not less than $800,000 monthly during the next twelve months.

CONTRACTS OUTPUT

"Although now announced as a $10,000,000 underwriting," Mr. Wright said, "the market fact our company with the bank's assumption of a five-year contract for distribution of our entire output of National Mortgage-Security Housing-Mortgage Insurance Corporation bonds and certificates."

"Our lending operations at present exceed $1,000,000 a month, and with this guaranteed outlet now established, we expect to gradually increase our lending and acquisition of mortgaged real estate to $10,000,000. We believe it is quite probable that our arrangement with Halsey, Stuart & Co. will result in their distributing for us upward of $100,000,000 of California mortgage securities during the next few years."

Issue of $12,000,000 for Iowa Utility Company is Largest on List

Obligations of the Iowa Public Service Company, Oregon-Washington Water Service Company and the Potomac Joint Stock Land Bank constitute the principal security issues now being handled by the banking houses for public markets this week.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., are the underwriters of the $12,000,000 Iowa Public Service Company first mortgage bonds. The financing is the result of a merger of the Central Iowa Power and Light Company and the Iowa Heat and Power Company. Part of the proceeds of the new company will be used for expenditures made in connection with the retirement of four issues of bonds, which have been paid off in full.

L. O. Chrstrom & Co., Inc., is offering the $3,000,000 Oregon-Washington Water Service Company 5 per cent first mortgage bonds, due 1987, at 104 1/2, to yield about 5.37 per cent. The properties of the company supply water, without competition, to domestic, commercial and industrial centers of large cities and towns in the Pacific Northwest, including Salem and Hillsboro in Oregon, and Vancouver, Bellingham, Burlington, Everett, Seattle, Wenatchee, Yakima, Pasco, and Pullman.

C. F. Childs & Co. is the underwriter of the $1,000,000 Potomac Joint Stock Land Bank, Washington, D. C., 5 per cent farm loan bonds, due 1987, at 103 1/2, to yield 4.88 per cent to 1987, and 5 per cent thereafter.

Bank of Italy Buys Issue of School Bonds

Bidding a premium of $200,000, the Bank of Italy yesterday was awarded an issue of $75,000 Montebello School District 5 per cent bonds, maturing 1955-56. The bonds were awarded by the Board of Supervisors after examination of the bid bids entered.

Food Authority Predicts Shifting of Milling Center to West; Machinery of Markets Will Be Needed

BY EARL E. CROWE

Not only is the Pacific Coast to be the seat of a mighty organized exchange for investment and speculation that will contest aggressively with the established markets in New York, but destiny, it seems, holds promise for the rise of a great commodity market on this Coast for the transaction of grain business. Dr. Carl L. Ahleberg, director of the food research institute at Stanford University, is the prophet who envisages this picture.

Like most prophets the realization-timers will find the western market in other hands. Many far-sighted manufacturers already have established plants, warehouses and headquarters in advance of actual requirements as they see the trend.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 13.—The market was in an expectant mood Saturday in view of the possibility of rains occurring over the western areas of drought in West Texas. There was, therefore, some disappointment early this morning when first private reports indicated that no rain had fallen there, but just about the conclusion of the day predictions began to arrive of showers in the dry areas. This had a decided influence on the opening when prices were irregular and generally about a quarter of a cent lower, but the price line again began to rise. The market quickly developed weakness as private reports began to arrive of more or less general rains shown in a widespread region around Lubbock. The market closed at 12 o'clock, with the decline as the decline reached to some 50 or 60 points below Saturday's close. The net result at 12 o'clock, when the market closed for the day, was a decline of 33 points from Saturday's close for cotton contracts. The market closed after official confirmation of the reported rains could be received.

The Watkins Bureau issued a crop report today in which condition of the crop was given as 60 per cent of what was indicated as compared with 60.2 as of May 16, and 75.5 last year at this time. The acreage is placed at 88 per cent of last year.

STRENGTH

A BUSINESS founded and conducted upon an ultra-conservative basis, yet progressive in its policies and growing steadily year by year; a business whose resources now amount to more than $50,000,000—the strongest institution of its kind in the country outside of New York City; a business whose personnel includes, as directors and owners of substantial interests, a number of the most representative men of this community; such is the business of the Mortgage Guarantee Company whose absolute guarantee is back of every First Mortgage Certificate issued by it.

First Mortgage Certificates of this Company are, in effect, fractional mortgages—pro rata interests in a diversity of first mortgages which in no instance exceed fifty per cent of the conservative property appraisals. They bear interest at the rate of 6% and are free from State, County and Municipal taxes in California. They are exactly as safe as the safest first mortgage—or even more so, if possible, by reason of the diversification feature, plus the Company's guarantee of both principal and interest.

If, in the placing of YOUR funds, you are interested in attaining maximum safety, together with the highest yield consistent therewith, we shall be glad to send you a descriptive booklet.

STANDARD OIL PAYMENTS GAIN

The primary reason for the decline in dividend payments in the second quarter was compared with the first quarter of the year was due to the retirement of the preferred stock issue of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey on which quarterly dividend payments amounted to $100,000. This, however, was partially offset by an increase in the common stock of that company. The company maintained the extra dividend of 12½ cents a share in the payment of 25 cents a share on the increased amount of stock which resulted in an increase in dividends on the common stock of $100,000. The Standard Oil Company of California omitted the extra dividend of 12½ cents a share which was paid in the first quarter of the year, which accounted for a reduction of $100,000 in the quarterly payment. Standard Oil Company also omitted the extra dividend of 50 cents, reducing the payment by about $400,000. On Continental Oil Company's dividends were approximately $200,000 less.

The record of quarterly cash disbursements since the dissolution is as follows:

MARINE MAN
TAKES POST
AT CHAMBERCapt. Paul Chandler to Succeed Maj. James in Management of Exchange

Capt. Paul Chandler will become manager of the marine exchange of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on July 1, according to an announcement by A. G. Arnold, managing secretary and general manager of the chamber. He will succeed Maj. James H. Matson, who has been managing director of the marine exchange since its inception. The management will continue under the general direction of Capt. H. Matson, manager of the trade extension department of the chamber, and Maj. Matson will become assistant to Mr. Matson in trade-extension work.

Capt. Chandler originally was manager of the Lumbra Steamship Company in Southern California, and is familiar with shipping on the entire Pacific Coast. Capt. Chandler began his business career with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Pipe Line Company, and with the marine department of the Great Northern Railroad, and then with the Mutual Transit Company, which operated a fleet of vessels on the Great Lakes. He spent considerable time in Europe, serving with the Oceanic Transfer Company as a personal venture. He also operated a line of steamboats on the Mississippi River. Later he formed the Great Lakes Pipe Line Company, and operated a fleet of barges on the New York bark canal.

During the war Capt. Chandler was in charge of Curtis Bay port of embarkation on the Chesapeake, and handled the landing of ships with supplies for overseas service. Later he was transferred to the United States Shipping Board in Washington, where he served for a year, and then went to Hongkong. In 1922 he came to Los Angeles.

LEAVES AS DEATH

The granting of the conditional release of many months of imprisonment by the direction of the State Board of Corrections and Rehabilitation, administered in Southern California, and he was freed if he had satisfied the court. But he was still in jail, which was worse, was sickly, and he wanted to leave. So he became assistant to the office of the attorney general, and he was able to handle the contracts and to have them let out for him.

A short sketch of the flag's history was given by Superior Judge Collier at the Electric Club's weekly luncheon yesterday. He said that in colonial days the colonies used flags of their own but that the Revolution evolved the need for one flag. He stated that in 1776 Washington and a committee visited Betsy Ross and chatted on a table the design that became the country's emblem. Miss Ross having worked the design into a flag.

FLAG ADOPTED

On June 14, 1777, Judge Collier said, the Continental Congress adopted the flag; on January 15, 1794, the stars and stripes were increased from thirteen (one for each colony or state) to fifteen (one for each state). The Congress provided for a flag that should have thirteen stripes and as many stars as there are States of the Union.

Public officials have called for a conspicuous display of Old Glory to suggest proper use of the flag says:

Confession Starts War to Exterminate Bandit Gangsters

VICIOUS GUNMAN RING BROKEN UP

Cow Leads to Fight on Women Attackers

Brutal Robbers Accused in Numerous Crimes

Two Held and Others Sought in Northern City

While Los Angeles detectives sought for other members of the band in Oakland and other northern cities last night, Chief of Detectives Cline here revealed the details of a concentrated man hunt that broke up what Cline described as the "most vicious band of negro robbers in local police history."

Making their rendezvous in shacks in the city dump at East Twenty-second Street and the Los Angeles River, the negroes, the detective chief declared, made almost nightly robbery forays that often ended in attacks on white women.

According to intense activity, but working secretly in conjunction with the Sheriff's office, scores of peace officers have been engaged in efforts to trap the raiders since their depredations began more than a month ago.

Yesterday it was revealed that two asserted ring leaders of the gang were under arrest, one of whom was said to have been captured after shooting and killing others and two suspects were being held for questioning.

CREDIT TO OFFICERS

To Detectives McDuff and Green, colored officers, Police Captain Ervin, in charge of Newton-street division, gave credit for the evidence that brought about the arrests. McDuff and Green, working with Deputy Sheriff Ghast, arrested Howard Maynard Hart, 21-year-old negro, and twice convicted before of serious crimes, at 12:30 yesterday morning.

Hart, who has been held since he made a written confession admitting his participation in various crimes including the attack on a white girl, and named various other members of the gang.

Following Hart's arrest, however, the other members of the asserted band hurriedly left Los Angeles, but Green and McDuff, hot on their trail, early yesterday seized Frank Wallace, 21, Negro, at 12:30 yesterday afternoon. Wallace was said to have been named by Hart in the confession. Two other negroes, Robert Collins and William Smith, asserted to have been participating with Wallace in the northern city, also were taken into custody.

CRIMES CONFESSION

Green and McDuff were in Oakland last night attempting to apprehend two others named only as "Joe" and "Memphis" in Hart's confession. Chief of Detectives Cline declared he hoped that the last two members of the band will be arrested within a few hours.

The crimes Hart is said to have committed the negro band with in his confession include the following:

Holding up a woman shopkeeper on May 12 on Pico street near the Fox Hills studio and attack on two young women accompanying Stanley F. J. Howard of 1488 East Twenty-first Street; held up in all cases his house on May 12 and robbed of his car, which was used in attempt to rob S. Feinberg in store at 8201 Hooper avenue. One shot was fired at Feinberg.

On May 14 the band held up Arthur Hector at 4211½ Hooper ave-

QUARTET RUNS BEAUTY SHOP

Girls Are Sisters and Boys Brothers

A Family Affair

KEPTING the business strictly within family circles has rare advantages, according to Iva Bellie Butler, beauty specialist, who recently opened a shop in the Fine Arts Building with her sister, Gladolph and Thomas Boquet, brothers. "Four people," she said, "could never get along in a business partnership if they weren't related somehow. If we had been sisters, I can assure you the family privilege of being perfectly frank with each other and the boys can do like wife in their family, then we can get together and straighten things out with a better understanding."

She and her brother had worked together for a year and a half in a beauty shop, when almost simultaneously the thought occurred to them, Iva Bellie said, that they would like to throw open the doors to their own houses for a change.

They lost no time in unnecessary procrastination and within a month Boquet & Butler was a going concern.

PORT DISTRICT ASKS HOSPITAL

Wilmington, San Pedro and Long Beach Co-operate

Plea Made for Branch of County Institution

Area Declares Merely Fair Treatment Wanted

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent LONG BEACH, June 13.—Long Beach, through Mayor Condit, took the lead in a concerted movement to be participated in by Wilmington, San Pedro and Long Beach, for the establishment of branches of the Angeles General Hospital in the harbor district. At a meeting attended by Mayor Condit and representatives of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce today plans for co-operation of the interested communities in furthering the project were discussed.

"An appeal will be made to the County Board of Supervisors to provide a unit of the County Hospital for 300,000 persons in the harbor district," Mayor Condit said, adding that such action would "stir up trouble and accomplish nothing."

The county has established health centers which are, in effect, branches of the County Hospital, he said, while in the San Fernando Valley, a complete unit of the County Hospital has been built. The harbor district, however, with its great population and property values contributing to such a large treasury, has received no such aid.

"This year Long Beach taxpayers will pay $164,000 in county taxes for hospital purposes and will get in return hospital service amounting to $30,000. This system is not very satisfactory."

The County Hospital has not been able to take care of all applicants and sometimes patients are so seriously ill that they cannot be moved from Long Beach to Los Angeles, where the County Hospital is located.

The question of a County Hospital unit in the harbor district, accessible to all sections of the Long Beach and Los Angeles Harbor areas, will be the second to be organized in the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce Thursday by Mayor Condit. The master will be presented to the City Council here at a later date, Mr. Condit said.

Attorney Finch, attorney for San Pedro, who has been retained by St. Sure, declared that the failure of all parties to agree on the receivership threatened bankruptcy against the concerns involved, which would result in a total loss to the stockholders by foreclosure of mortgages.

LOCATION IS EVERYTHING

Location is a matter of tremendous importance. A hole in one on the golf links is something to boast about for moons, but what a difference when it is in the golf stockings.

ARMED
RA father and his daughter received their diplomas together at the Whittier College commencement. Well, there's one father who can feel just as smart as his graduate daughter this June.

WOMEN IN STEAMERS
Women say there are no more buncos-teasers in Los Angeles, so that Mr. Sudd, the Australian busman who has come here to blow in his wad, will not be relieved of it all at once unless he runs afoul of a hold-up man.

AS BETWEEN NATIONS
Advice to chief executives of all countries: When you wish to cement an international friendship don't send a stone-faced diplomatic martinet by steamer or rail, for he is as negligible as an office boy. Send a long-distance air ambassador.

GOING FINE
Going the puzzle of the thronged streets is how do they all make a living. Yet they all look as if they lived well. Nobody is in rags any more and few people are going hungry from necessity. Such a thing has never been known in other countries or at other periods even in our own.

ONE VOLCANO TO ANOTHER
O Mussolini is pushing energetically the excavation of ruins buried by Vesuvius August 24, 79, and piled deeper December 15, 1851. It's a lucky thing for Vesuvius that its bad habit probably will not lead it to blow off again during the life of Il Duce, for there's no telling what his answer might be.

INVADERS REPULSED
In the recent war game off the Massachusetts coast in which battleships were sunk, airplanes shot down and men slain by the thousand—theoretically—cost the government $24,000, but it was cheap at that, as the enemy was completely repulsed and the country is safe from everything and everybody, with the possible exception of Senator Jim Reed and Clarence Darrow.

VOTE-SLACKERS
Following the dismaying declaration of Mussolini that democracy had been abolished in Italy comes the more cheering one that every person with the elective franchise who neglects to vote will be deprived of the privilege of voting. Mussolini well understands that element of human nature which makes a man ardently desire to do the thing he has been neglecting if he is denied the right to do it.

MEAN BUSINESS
MThere were five millionaires and a flock of business men on a recent grand tour in Chicago and the members worked like Trojans. They returned more than 100 indictments in five days and set a mark for future jurors to shoot at. If it were possible to get more business men on the nation's juries more business would be done. That stands to reason. There wouldn't be so much foolish shooting in the air.

WHITE HOUSE REPAIRS
WVisitors to Washington who are wondering why the grounds about the White House are closed, and they are denied an opportunity to view the interior of the historic mansion, are being told that all the old roof has been taken off, that the third floor is in process of reconstruction, with empty spaces that only an experienced builder or steeplejack could navigate and that huge piles of timbers, steel, tiles and other odds and ends clutter up the place. The completion of the repair job in the time limit of 125 days would be impossible if visitors were allowed to enter and wander around as they desired.

AN OFFICIAL
AEveryone conversant with conditions in Los Angeles will hear with satisfaction that Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez is to retain his present office there. The Governor in his four years of administering the affairs of the peninsula has been energetic in promoting its material and educational interests. In addition the Governor has established a confidence on both sides of the border that has led to most cordial relationship between Mexican and American interests working together for the development of that region's rich natural resources. He has won the esteem and respect of all with whom he has come into contact. President Calles might find others with equal executive ability to carry on the work of the present Governor, but none so familiar with the needs of that special territory or so conversant with the most approved methods of solving its problems.

THE FLAG OF THE FREE
TOne hundred and fifty years ago the Stars and Stripes began to fly over a country aspiring and struggling to free itself from a foreign power. Thirty-five years later the flag was nailed to the top of the mast to make the high seas free for all peoples and nations. In 1848 it was planted in California and from that root our local liberties sprang. In the '60's it marched up and down this country and struck the manacles of all slaves and made the country free within itself. It became ambitious for others in 1897 and fared forth and freed the neighboring islands of foreign dominion. In the World War it was brought to go over and help to make the world free. It is the flag of the free.

On the 14th day of June, 1777, Congress passed a resolution adopting a flag with thirteen stripes, alternately red and white, and a union of thirteen white stars in a field of blue.

The first anniversary of the flag to be observed was June 14, 1857, in New York at the call of the Governor. A National Flag Conference was held at the instance of the American Legion in Washington on June 14, 1923.

A code was adopted for the national emblem. The horizontal bars must be seven red and six white. The canton should contain forty-eight five-point stars in six horizontal and eight vertical rows.

The flag must rise with the sun and be folded away with its setting. In procession it must be at the right; grouped with banners of States it must be highest in the center; among emblems of nations it must be on a staff of equal length with the others; draped in a hall the union must be uppermost and to the flag's right.

Under the old Spanish regime in Cuba an American citizen was sentenced to be shot. He was pinned to a tree, the black cap drawn down, the paces measured off, the guns loaded and aimed—when suddenly and swiftly a horseman dashed up and fired our flag about the prisoner. That volley was never fired!

During the Armenian atrocities in Thysia, Lydia, a Greek Christian gathered all the proscribed natives within his home, made an American flag and draped it over his door. Not a scimitar was lifted!

Who named the flag "Old Glory"? Orator? preacher? philanthropist? millionaire? Congressman? President? Who christened the flag, "Old Glory"? Hissing shot and bursting shell, grime and battle smoke, the rent and tear!—these named the flag "Old Glory!"

If there had not been so many sabers on battlefields of other years, where would the husbandmen find material to turn into plowshares? If there had not been so many swords of defense in behalf of Liberty in days gone by, where would the growers have their pruning hooks?

Every drop of the oil of peace has been purchased by a drop of blood—drop for drop. Every ripple of laughter has been bought by a sob of anguish. Every mother's hope has been secured by another mother's agony. Every field of yellow grain was bought by another field of blue, plowed and sown by shot and reaped by swords.

Every bursting joy has been bought by a bursting shell—shells for shouts. Every kind of meeting has been purchased by a kind of parting—tears for kisses—kisses for tears. What a barter!

After J. Wilkes Booth appeared at the door of the box in Ford's Theater and fired at President Lincoln he leaped from the stage, shouting "Sic semper tyrannis!" The American flag draped about the box heard and caught the assassin by the heel and hung him headlong, fracturing his ankle. That banner had seen too much suffering. It had heard too many moans. It had been the rallying point to too many conflicts. It had been snatched back from too many enemies and replaced on the ramparts by too many patriots. It had led the line in too many charges. It had inspired the national anthem at Fort McHenry. It had been riden on Cemetery Ridge, just two years before at Gettysburg. It had returned with Sheridan and wrested victory from defeat. It had been before Grant reddened by blood that was before Grant in the Wilderness. It had been the winding sheet of too many heroes. It had a right to be jealous of the Lincoln it loved!

May heaven never have cause to blush for the blue torn from the skies and spanned with the stars of the States! May the stars never be ashamed of being transplanted to our banner! May the white bars of morning light and the crimson streamers of the sunrise never fade into the ashen desolation of defeat and dishonor in Old Glory!

GERMANY'S ECONOMIC RECOVERY

All close observers of German affairs during the last six months are agreed that the economic recovery of the new republic has been most remarkable—indeed, some writers refer to it as having taken on the aspect of a boom. The savings banks deposits of the country, which were 1,750,000 marks at the beginning of 1926, rose steadily through the year and now are reported to exceed 3,000,000,000. In the same period the bank rate has fallen from 10 to 6 per cent and with cheaper money industry has been greatly stimulated, while there has been a marked rise in stock quotations.

German sales in the Orient now exceed in value the business done in 1913 by 25 per cent, while Latin-American sales are back to prewar figures, and trade with Sweden, Holland and Denmark has greatly increased. Germany's commercial ocean fleet was cut to 15 per cent of its prewar tonnage after the peace settlement, but it is now 90 per cent, and its shipbuilding program, which includes many steel steamers and motor ships planned or in course of construction, is of a more ambitious nature than that of any other country except England or Italy.

Alfred Pearce Dennis of the United States diplomatic service, in a recent article in the New York Times, says that "in traveling through Germany one is impressed by the magnificence of the roads, the number of new roofs on farm dwellings, the integrity of the vast forests, the efficiency of railroad maintenance and operation and the splendid equipment of the industrial plants." Mr. Dennis also says that the production of German lignite coal has actually increased by 25 per cent over that of 1915, probably largely due to the British coal strike.

One reason why Germany has been so successful in the recovery of her lost foreign trade is that the German technique of foreign marketing equips the salesmen with the weapon of unlimited price-cutting. Whatever commodity is offered by a com-

ANOTHER LINK BROKEN

As the years pass by the links that bound modern Southern California with its historic past grow fewer and rarer. The older members of our best known families one by one in the course of nature are taken from us, leaving only the memory of the good work they did for a generation that is also passing.

Col. George Smith Patton is another of the pioneers, just laid to rest from the picturesque Church of the Savior near his San Marino home, whose death severs a close link between the old and the new in California. To the fine traditions of southern aristocracy he grafted the progressive spirit of the West and socially and politically left his mark on the community in which he lived and the Democratic party of which he was a loyal adherent.

Those who knew his genial and lovable personality will long miss Col. Patton from the circles where he was always a welcome guest. His business friends and partners mourn a willing and able helper. To the immediate members of his family The Times offers sympathy and condolence in their heavy bereavement.

PLANE CLIMBING
Now they are trying to start a line of aerial taxis to several of the noted peaks in the Swiss Alps. It is said that conditions for landing and taking off are excellent on some of them and the trip will spare tourists the hazards and hardships of the climb. Many of the visitors think they must scale at least one of the mountains and if they can do it in the cockpit of a fast plane it becomes a matter of luxurious ease instead of a dangerous hardship. Things are being made as pleasant as possible for the traveler. When he goes to heaven he will expect an express elevator to read and approve all the books of his professors?

PEN POINTS
Another stunt for thrill-hunters: Try borrowing money from a man who hasn't a nickname.

Still, anybody with the heart to be merry on liquor at $3 a quart could be merry without it.

Nothing in the world is useless, but this will surprise the young. But it will be six months or longer before he can show signs of activity again.

Still, anybody with the heart to be merry on liquor at $3 a quart could be merry without it.

Nothing personal, but if there's a new station in the neighborhood, it will be six months or longer before he can show signs of activity again.

GOOD-BY, SAILOR BOY!
By James J. Montague

I always was strong for the jolly jack tar, With his naughty nautical manner, Would run up a ratline or swing from a spar.

And be true to the star-spangled banner, Though his speech bore the tang of the wide open sea.

And his curse words were frequently frightful,

The ways of the olden brine blue jacket to even me.

Were always intensely delightful.

I liked him because he was fat and serene,

Because "live while you live" was his motto,

And that when, once ashore he forever

To do things that he knew he ought not to.

I liked him because he had learned to despise.

The things we call standards of grammar—

Wherever he went he was clothed, in my eyes,

With a shining and glorious glamour.

But the jolly young jackal, alas is no more,

He is seized with a dreadful ambition.

To master the modern pedantic lore;

That the college folks call erudition;

He is lanky and lean, and addicted to thought,

Has learned how to cling to a dollar,

And his once unreflecting young spirit is fraught,

With the aim to become a great scholar.

No more he is ruthlessly dragged to the bridge.

The little steel horse-gow up forward.

For the sailor today is a studious prig.

Who never does anything horrid.

The days of his glory are over and passed.

For the rapidly spreading devotion

To stupid and commonplace learning at last.

Has killed all romance on the ocean!

Health problem is ours. The sanitary work Uncle Sam has always had to do is that of sanitation. By training the peoples of Mexico, we can help them to understand that they must do their part to help us to cope with and clean up their public health problems we insure the public health of this nation and of the world.

"In Los Angeles county 85 per cent of the vegetable and food products are grown by foreign labor. These should be educated to proper health standards in both personal hygiene and the handling of food.

"Within the next ten years Los Angeles will have a population of 8,000,000 persons.

"We are going to know them!" the county health officer says.

"It certainly is going to be, in fact is now, too great a problem for the health department to cope with."

"Shall we build institutions to care for the sick?" That is expensive and difficult.

"Public health is no longer a one-man job. It needs team work between the Chambers of Commerce, business men's organizations, the public school systems and the universities.

"Men who guide the destinies of great industrial projects pay more and more attention to the practicalities of public health. Employers realize the economic importance of permanent health of their employees.

"We need not repeat the miserable conditions of disease and death in the Tropics. We can plan right to take care of our population increase, build model villages for working men; sanitary areas for crowded areas.

We now have in Los Angeles county eight health centers employing between 300 and 400 workers. There is no personnel to draw from to fill other positions.

"It is for the purpose of inaugurating a program to make Los Angeles a world public health center that through the efforts of the Los Angeles County Public Health Association and the medical advisory board of the county health department that Prof. Charles E. Winslow of Yale medical school, and foremost international authority on public health topics, has been secured to head the new annual public health institute, to be held here."

MARIAN CALAIS, who is to be a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce party which is soon to leave for the second annual excursion to Ensenada, knows just what she wants in the way of state-of-the-art.

She appeared yesterday at the steamship offices to make her reservation for a stateroom on the steamship Emma Alexander for the trip. In response to a question as to where the sort of vacation she preferred, Miss Calais climbed on the counter and pointed out on a large picture of the steamship the berth she wanted.

A large group of members of the Junior Chamber are scheduled to make the trip, which is to last for three days.

DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT WASTE

Glad to See Us

HE reception given the opening of our three new stores in Santa Barbara and Ventura, recently, was one of the most encouraging ever accorded our entry into any section of the country. People came from miles around to attend the opening and city folks fairly poured into the stores. Expressions of astonishment and appreciation of the values offered were heard on every side. Sales for a single day amounted to thousands of dollars so eager were the crowds to avail themselves of the unaccustomed savings. Our hundreds of thousands of regular patrons are familiar with the unequalled combination of advantages offered by this most efficient system of distributing foods.

TUESDAY MORNING.

"What is my used car worth in trade?"

OCCASIONALLY you hear a car owner say: "I'm going to buy such and such a new car because the dealer has offered me the best deal on my used car."

But without understanding the economics of trade-in transactions, you cannot be sure that the largest allowance offered means the best deal for you.

These are basic facts:

1 YOUR used car has only one fundamental basis of value; i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

2 YOUR used car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

3 THE largest allowance offered is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

4 AN excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

5 FIRST judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your used car.

Remember that when you trade-in your used car you are after all making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of a new car.

PARAMOUNT SIGNS NEW VILLAIN

Fred Kohler to Undertake Dirty Work at Crossroads; Chic Sale's Sister Virginia With Christies; James Forbes Writes New Comedy

BY GRACE KINGSLY

Such a lot of snow-white heroes writers didn't go below the surface of the German impersonators, who originated the idea, to see that their characters had a more solid foundation beneath the evident, flowing and somewhat formless way of writing.

Forbes takes issue with H. G. Wells in the latter's opinion of "Metropolis," the German feature picture over which he has been so much controver-

Kohler's many villainous characterizations in feature pictures have won him the title of the wolf of the screen. He is the hand-some matinéate in "Old Ironsides," the brawling top sergeant in "The Rough Riders," and the snarling gangster in "Underworld," three of Paramount's recent most popular pictures. Other important heavy roles were in "The Iron Horse" and "The Blood Ship."

The actor was signed yesterday to permit him to play in Thomas Maigne's new silent picture, which James Cruze will direct. He is to be one of Paramount's main featured villains, according to B. P. Finegan, studio executive in the absence of E. P. Schubert, who is now on a vacation.

Although still in his thirties, Kohler has spent eighteen years on the stage and screen. His first theatrical work was with a stock company in "When Johnnie Comes Marching Home." He was born in Kansas City, Mo., educated there, and played four years with the legitimate stage before going into films. His first role before the camera was with Robert Bowditch in "The Code of Honor."

Virginia Lee Corbin is it. Virginia Lee Corbin has been cast by First National to play opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Drop Kick," the football story which goes into production immediately, according to an announcement by Ray Hackett, who is in charge of First's operations.

The actress is just 17 and one of the few cases of child stars who have graduated into the leading woman class. Seventeen is a lucky age for young ladies aspiring to appear with Barthelmess.

Virginia first appeared at the age of 17 in "The Kick," the first film in which Synder and Chester Franklin directed for Fox, and she was seen lately in First National's "Ladies at Play," and "The Perfect Sap."

Millard Webb will direct the new Barthelmess picture.

JAMES FORBES LEAVES US

That brilliant playwright, James Forbes, author of "The Famous Mrs. Park," "Glorious," and "The Chorus Lady," and other noted successes of the stage, who has been visiting Hollywood as the guest of Marie Dressler and her family, is about to return to New York.

Another play may blossom under the skillful hand of Forbes. The new one is to be called "The Final Fling," which is a very good title indeed as it depicts the period of life at the same time leaves each fellow who hears it imagining he can guess what it means. I will leave it just that way, since he who gives a story of a play is always a monkey in the middle of it.

James Forbes leaves us

Two Stars Guests of Honor

Two of those socially gallivanting young ladies, the picture stars, have agreed to lend the light of their countenances to some important occasions to be staged shortly.

Ettie Taylor, feature player at the United Artists' studio, will be the guest of honor at the Cinderella Ball on June 22nd at the 22nd Inst. when the Landry-Brown orchestra will be introduced at that place, coming from a long engagement at the Kit Kat Club in London.

Julia Faye will appear in person at Bert Sheppard's Hollywood Marquette Cafe tomorrow evening with a party of friends to help celebrate De Mille studio night. Miss Faye will have as her guests a number of De Mille stars and players.

ADAPTING BAILEY STORY

Dorothy Yetz no sooner completed the continuity for her original story, "Little Mickey Grogan," for F.O. than she was handed Temple Bailey's script and was told to make an adaptation of it. She has been hard at work on the script and hopes to complete it in time to have a vacation between continuities and motor down to the Grand Canyon.

Asked about the art of playwriting these days, Forbes declared that in his opinion the school of imagination is dead and has run its course.

"It was merely a method borrowed in its surface aspects by the indolent and slovenly writers because it looked easy. As a matter of fact, these were decidedly worthy of headline mention. It was an extremely refreshing and novel spot in a program of more or less well-worn themes and topics.

From the time of the first curtain on the act, a favorable impression was created by the colorful settings composed wholly of gay Chinese embroidery.

In the first few moments a magician was introduced. The Chinese tricks were ever fascinating, and this individual was a master of his own ones. Water sprang from everything he touched—and burned cords were made whole again—and the audience applauded vigorously every new feat.

Besides the magician there were various acrobats, becoming experts, bamboo and plate jugglers, in short, the act was a complete show in itself and was, without doubt, the best thing on the program.

The rest of the bill was composed for the most part of songs and dances.

The Broadway Revue consisted of a group of young folks, who did everything from dancing to playing the xylophone. The youthful tap dancer made the act stand out as a bit different.

Another revue billed on yesterday's program was entitled "The Vaudeville Limited." This, as well as the other, followed the usual reprise pattern, with a few novelties and a few thrown in.

Elton E. Tison, daring French ace, decorated for bravery in the World War, presented an act of crack marksmanship. Shooting tiny discs from attractive young ladies' mouths, however, is a bit of a strain on the spectator, even if he is quite confident that the marksman's aim is good.

Harry and Dan Dowling offered the patter, song and wisecracks so far lacking on the bill. On a whole, their act was good—but the audience would have relished more melody and fewer wisecracks.

As a film offering, Pantages featured a revival of "The Count of Monte Cristo," with John Gilbert, Estelle Taylor and Renée Adoree in the principal roles.

Shorter film offerings completed the program.

CHINESE MAGIC AMAZES

A widely diversified bill was that which opened yesterday for a week's run at the Pantages Theater. The vaudeville entertainment included everything from the clever marketing of a prominent French ace to the magic and dexterity of an extremely versatile Chinese troupe.

The Chinese troupe without a doubt ran away with the honors and

FLAPPERS TO BE FAVORED

It is suggested by the management of the Belasco Theater to the local playgoing public that she hasten on Thursday to the box office of the Belasco Theater where Taylor Holmes is appearing in "The Great Neck." Holmes, the box-office man, that she is a flapper, and receive any orchestra seat for the price of $1.50.

The only process necessary to secure this seat reduction is to say to the treasurer, "I am a flapper." Since "The Great Neck" is a play of flappers the Belasco management believes that their sisters might like to see it and has adopted this method of special rates in consequence.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES

BEFORE THE BUILDING OF A TRANS-CONTINENTAL RAILWAY, AN OVERLAND JOURNEY TO THE PACIFIC COAST FROM THE MISSISSIPPI MEANT MANY WEEKS OF TIRESONE TRAVEL EITHER ON HORSEBACK OR IN A CLUMSY "PRAIRIE SCHOONER".

TO REDUCE THE TIME REQUIRED TO CARRY THE MAIL BETWEEN THE MIDWEST AND THE PACIFIC, THE FAMOUS "PONY EXPRESS" HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED IN 1860.

TWO YEARS LATER, A LINE OF STAGE COACHES WAS OPENED TO CARRY PASSENGERS AND BAGGAGE TO THE WEST COAST. THESE COACHES WERE DRIVEN BY SUCH DARING MEN AS THE FAMOUS "BUFFALO BILL" CODY.

THOSE WERE THE DAYS OF THE "ROAD AGENTS", WHO FREQUENTLY ROBBED THE STAGES, AND DIED DANGER OF THESE BANDITS. ONE DAY, BY INDIANS, THE TRAVELER WHO TOOK HIS LIFE IN HIS HANDS.

DINNER OPENS APPEAL DRIVENational Leaders Address Jewish Gathering*Brotherhood and Sympathy Stressed by Speakers*Advance Donations $50,000 in $225,000 Campaign

With $50,000 in advance gifts received, the United Jewish Appeal drive, to raise $225,000 in Los Angeles for national charitable and philanthropic projects, formally opened with a banquet at the Biltmore last night, at which nationally prominent leaders and local directors of the drive called upon the Jewish World.

World brotherhood, sympathy for those in distress, generosity in property for the less fortunate, were the keynote sounded by the speakers before the 500 men of Los Angeles and their wives who attended the dinner.

NEWMARK TOASTMASTER
Henry W. Louis, city chairman, introduced Marco R. Newmark, who served as toastmaster for the evening. Mr. Newmark's parents were trusted as pioneers in charitable work.

"The dinner tonight should be more than an effort to give immediate relief," Mr. Newmark said. "It should mean the foundation of a permanent Jewish community institution, an ever-needed and emergency of this kind which may arise, whatever its nature may be."

The need of relief for the unfortunate Jews of Europe was stressed by Louis B. Mayer, who urged generous giving on a basis of brotherly preservation of the soul of the Jew."

DOMICILE DIVIDED FOR DIVORCEWife Agrees to Live in Rear Rooms and Husband Takes Front Pending Trial of His Suit Against Mate on Charges of Cruelty

When James L. Farney, Ingleside business man, and his wife, Lillie, decided that they could not live together harmoniously, they signed an agreement which stipulated that Mrs. Farney should have the exclusive use and possession of the rear portion of their home while her husband continued to have possession of the front part of the house.

This strange contract was revealed yesterday as a clause in a lengthy property settlement containing the Farneys' complaint for divorce filed in Superior Court.

Although Mrs. Farney agreed to take the rear portion of the house and share of the home, she is to receive all furniture and chattels excepting a desk, an adding machine and a small loose and tolerance.

"Let us think for a moment," Mr. Mayer said, "how much harder it is to like the sound of that word 'raise,' for in thus expressing your generosity and helping the unfortunate, you lift their very lives and spirits."

Other speakers on the program included Irving H. Hellman, chairman of the California committee; Rabbi Herman Lazar, formerly of San Francisco, and Dr. E. P. Ryland, secretary of the Church Federation of Los Angeles; Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin pronounces the invocation. Others at the speakers' table included Irving Lipkin, campaign director; Elmer Slosson, chairman of the advanced gifts committee; Mrs. Adolph Slesinger, chairman of the woman's division, and George Jessel. Entertainment was provided by Maxine Carol, child soprano, and Monroe Jockey's band.

The second assembly of the campaign will be held at the same meeting place at 8 p.m. on Saturday, June 24, on Seventh and Union streets, at which Judge Lewis, Rabbi Magnin, Rabbi Winkler, Rabbi Imadon Isaacson and others will speak.

The campaign has been arranged through the courtesy of Warhol Bros., on which Cantor Joseph Rosenblatt and Georgia Jessel will appear before the microphone at 8 o'clock.

Judge Lewis, between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock tomorrow night, will appear before the microphone.

Joseph Diskay, operatic baritone, will sing several ballads.

Georgia Jessel has offered to give a benefit performance to aid the drive.

"I am especially happy that our Christian brethren have taken such an interest in this cause and have been so generous with their support."

The realistic side of relief was stressed by Judge William L. Levy of Philadelphia, national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, who spoke in behalf of the projects.

"Relief for those who are in distress will mean not only helping them physically, but it will mean the preservation of the soul of the Jew,"

CARELESS AUTO DRIVER SCOREDKHJ Speaker Says Injury to Eighty Children During May Avoidable

Had motorists of the city used ordinary precaution during May, eighty-one of the ninety child victims of motor accidents during that month would have been spared the agony of injury and in some cases their lives, Sgt. E. L. Johnson of the Police Bureau of Public Safety said in a talk over KHJ yesterday.

Records show that 80 per cent of all traffic accidents are avoidable, he stated. Consequently, eighty-one of the ninety child victims could have been saved.

MRS. DORSEY GIVES TALK ON REUNION

School Executive Tells of Showing by Her Class at Vassar Anniversary

Vassar girls of fifty years ago called each other "Mims," but those who gathered at the historic college after half a century of experience addressed their class-mates by their first names. Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of schools, told the Board of Education last night. Mrs. Dorsey returned last Sunday night after attending the reunion.

"Of the forty-four students who graduated with my class in 1877, twenty-one attended the reunion." Mrs. Dorsey said. "All of them were in excellent health and are but one might have been called 'old.' There are thirty-five members of that class still living, four of them in California."

Mrs. Dorsey told of the splendid gifts to the college from members of that class. One student, a charwoman, joined in presenting a $100,000 organ, another had built an infirmary, and all were living useful, active and successful lives.

Among the class of 1877 the third year celebration was being conducted, were several grand-daughters of the alumnae, representing the third generation to receive degrees from the school. Mrs. Dorsey paid high tribute to the girls of 1877 whom she said were not prudes, but the finest type of young womanhood in America.

Father's Day was a subject of considerable merriment in 1910 by Mrs. Dodd of Spokane, Wash. We loved dad and all that, but as for dragging him into the sentimental spotlight and garlanding him, honestly, corrupting him as we do mother.

It just didn't seem so cultural. And besides, would the dear old truck horse stand without hitching during the operation?

For the thousands who abhor sentiment it is the average father. He didn't seem to understand at first, mildly wondering what the idea was all about, making a fuss over his mother.

National Father's Day got off to a poor start in 1914. One reason was
